ZUKISWA RAMNCWANA IS OUR DESIGNER

Since 2000 she has had the privilege of working with many wonderful clients, implementing their own individual design needs and turning their dreams into reality. She has had client profiles that have varied through the years in both demographics and personal style. She has Masters in economic policy – Stellenbosch University; Masters in Development specialising in development economics – Nelson Mandela U. Both Zukiswa and Soyama her partner are Development Economists; and the massive unemployment has fatefully driven their creative passion to entrepreneurship.

Her passion and loyalty is now solely in building and growing her brand.

“It's more than my passion, I find expressing my creativity is very rewarding and fulfilling especially in seeing the completion of a project with dramatic results.

No two projects are alike. The collaboration between myself and my clients insures every detail is discussed.”

SOYAMA WESIZWE RAMNCWANA – BUSINESS MARKETING

Backed by Youth, He is the Future...

Soyama is a keen marketer and has done marketing work throughout his tertiary education study years. He grew up into what has come to be accepted as a conventional childhood for most of those born during the transition out of apartheid - single parenthood. He spent most of his early childhood moving from one town to the other and rarely ever staying in one school for long periods of time.

Born to a mother who has made most of her earnings designing household interiors; it had never been farfetched for Soyama Wesizwe Ramncwana to pursue a career in the creative industry. Even though he graduated as a Development Economist from Nelson Mandela University, his vision and focus is driving the company to new areas.
